MANUFACTURER DIES SUDDENLY

George Altmeyer, 46 Years Old, Well Known Cigar Maker, Expires From Heart Attack.

FUNERAL SUNDAY AFTERNOON
Is Survived by Widow, Six Sisters and One Brother—Member of Two Lodges.

George Altmeyer, 46 years old, a well known cigar manufacturer, died suddenly about one o'clock this morning at his home, 433 West Second street of organic heart trouble. The sudden death of Mr. Altmeyer came as a great shock to his many friends and removes one of the city's most progressive business men.

Mr. Altmeyer had suffered from heart trouble for about two years, but yesterday he seemed in the usual health and was about the streets and at his place of business. Last evening he worked at his residence sowing grass seed and on retiring for the night apparently was in the best of health.

About one o'clock he awoke and quired of Mrs. Altmeyer if it was not raining. She replied that it was not and heard her husband gasping for breath. She called to him but received no reply and becoming alarmed turned on the light. Mr. Altmeyer passed away before a physician reached his side. The coroner pronounced death due to leakage of the heart.

Mr. Altmeyer was born in Maysville, Ky., February 22, 1866. At an early age he took up cigar making as a trade and came here as a transient cigar maker. His mother died while Mr. Altmeyer was yet a boy and he had his own battles to fight. He was married in this city and moved to Washington, Ind. Mr. Altmeyer successfully worked at his trade in several Indiana and Illinois cities and moved to this city about nine years ago.

Besides his widow he is survived by six sisters, Mrs. A. N. Huff of Huntington, Ind., Mrs. H. E. Otto, Mrs. Charles Traxel, Mrs. Frank Burgey, Mrs. Frank Devine, and Miss Margaret Altmeyer, and one brother, John Altmeyer, all of Maysville, Ky.

The funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late residence by the Rev. C. M. Yocum. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery and will be in charge of the Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias lodges of which he was a member.

HEAT IS NOT OPPRESSIVE
But Temperature Arises to 88 Degrees Today Despite That.

Although the heat was not oppressive today the temperature arose to eighty-eight degrees, according to several thermometers. The storm yesterday afternoon brought a refreshing breeze, and it continued throughout the night and today. And the strangest thing chronicled in several weeks is that the weather prediction for this vicinity is fair and cool.

BOLT KILLS HORSE.
Mrs. Nancy King of near St. Paul lost a valuable horse during the storm Monday. The animal was found beneath a tree which had been shattered by lightning. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

RELEASED 'NEAR' BLIND MAN

John Wainscott Was Sent to Osgood by Police.

John Wainscott, the "near" blind man, who was arrested Tuesday afternoon on a profanity charge, was released last evening after he had promised the police he would leave the city. Wainscott was not taken before the mayor as the police did not wish to make him any trouble and the charge was withdrawn. The township trustee furnished the money and he was sent to Osgood this morning.

CLOUD SPENDS ITS FORCE IN DECATUR

Storm That Threatened Rushville Late Yesterday Plays Havoc in Greensburg and Vicinity.

A RAINFALL OF 4.8 INCHES

The ugly-looking storm cloud which arose in the southwestern sky yesterday afternoon, and which several predicted would bring a cyclone Rushville's way, spent its force at Greensburg before arriving over Rushville. A rainfall of four and eight-tenths inches was recorded. The unprecedented fall was in such a short space of time that it bordered on a cloudburst. The rain fell heavily here, but nothing compared to the fall in Greensburg. Water stood several inches deep in one of the principal streets. An Indianapolis car was held up in the street for an hour on account of the high water.

ACROBAT NEEDED "BIG WEDNESDAY"

Little Rivers of Water That People Could Not Jump Collected at Several Corners.

INLETS TO SEWER CLOGGED.

Ability as an acrobat was needed to get across a crossing at Main and Third streets yesterday shortly after the heavy rain yesterday afternoon. For more than an hour the stream of water was so wide that the average person could not jump over it. Especially was it impossible for women to cross. Finally some thoughtful person put a narrow plank across the little river and then it was necessary to do a balancing stunt to get across. A boy walking across the plank fell in and several women narrowly averted getting a ducking.

This crossing is not the only one that is almost impassable after a rain. At the corner of Eighth and Main the same condition exists. At the corner of Second and Harrison and Second and Jackson the water always collects so that pedestrians are hindered. It is said that the inlet into the sewer is clogged up which accounts for the conditions that exist at these places.

PATIENT DISCHARGED.

According to word received by the clerk of the circuit court this afternoon, Cleopatra Priest has been discharged from the southeastern hospital for the insane at Madison as cured. She was committed to the asylum about a year ago. She will come home in a few days.

'BIG WEDNESDAY' OFFERS ARE OPEN

Because of the Unfavorable Weather Only Four Numbers Corresponding to Gifts Were Presented.

MERCHANTS ARE SINCERE

Many Favor Band Concerts For Every Week or Two Weeks—Concert Appreciated.

Although the crowd at the First "Big Wednesday" of the summer was a disappointment, it was exceptionally good when the weather conditions are considered. The threatening clouds in the morning kept a large number of people away and the rain of the afternoon caused a much larger number to remain at home.

Even though the weather was very unfavorable many of the merchants did a good business for the day. The July sale season is at its height and this served to attract many people to the city as did the gifts offered by the members of the Retail Merchants Association.

Only four of the gifts offered by the members of the Association were claimed. This is largely due to the smallness of the crowd. It is presumed by many merchants that many people would have called to compare the number on their bill with that on the gift offered if the weather had been better.

But the members of the Association say that it is the intention to keep the offer open until Saturday night. The gifts will be presented whenever the person holding the bill with the winning number appears. The idea became general that the prizes had to be claimed on "Big Wednesday" else they would not be given away. The merchants say due to the fact that the crowd was so small they intended to keep the offer open. They want it to be understood that they offered with the intention of giving them away, and that they will avail themselves of every opportunity to do so. They do not mean to establish a precedent by this, however.

The successful numbers were presented and the gifts given at four stores as follows: Allen's grocery store, Bodine's shoe store, Hogsett's dry goods store and Mulno's clothing store.

The business houses which still have gifts, offered as a "Big Wednesday" attraction, are as follows: Hunt's hardware store, Callaghan & Company, Morris' hardware store, Vignon's Variety store, Bliss & Cowling's clothing store, Hackman's department store, Newhouse's grocery store, Neutzenheller's harness and buggy store, Oneal's implement store, Ben Cox's shoe store, Reardon's shoe store, Poe's jewelry store, Crosby's paint store, Wyatt's furniture store, Abercrombie's jewelry store, Kennedy & Casady's dry goods store, Kramer's meat market, Jones' 99 cent store, Johnson's drug store, Haydon's hardware store, Wolcott's drug store, and Aldridge's grocery store.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather the three motion picture houses enjoyed an excellent patronage. The shows were filled at every performance in the afternoon. Most of the patrons were there as guests of the Retail Merchants Association as each member gave away free tickets which were good at any of the shows.

The Rushville concert band was not deterred by the storm clouds or the heavy rain. When the streets were almost deserted by visitors who sought shelter in stores, the band was playing serenely in the lobby at the west entrance of the court house.

The band did itself credit at the

MYSTERY ABOUT MANILLA BLAZE

Wilbur Stiers and Family Had Not Been Home For Six Hours Before it Started.

HEAVY LOSS IS SUSTAINED

Fact That Hard Rain Was Falling Probably Saved Other Residences From Destruction.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the home of Wilbur Stiers and all of its contents yesterday afternoon in Manilla. No one was in the house at the time, as Mrs. Stiers and her little daughter are visiting friends in Indianapolis and Mr. Stiers was at his work as a barber in the Mull building where he operates a shop.

Smoke was noticed coming from the chimney several minutes before the house was known to be on fire. Dr. Charles Zike, the dentist, was the first person to send in the alarm. He was on his way to his office from home when he passed the house and noticed the smoke coming from the building. He immediately informed Mr. Stiers and when they reached the house and opened the doors the whole building seemed to be in a blaze.

When the alarm was sounded it had just started to rain, but this did not prevent the residents from turning out to fight the blaze. Although aided by the rain their efforts were in vain and they were not even able to save any of the furniture.

In talking to one of the residents of Manilla who helped fight the fire, he stated that the whole west end of town would have been burned if there had not been a heavy downpour of rain during the fire.

The residence was a five-room structure and it is a mystery to the citizens of the little town how it caught on fire, as Mr. Stiers had not been in the house since morning when he left to go to work. He ate his dinner up town. Insurance was carried on the house, but none on the contents.

OLIVER MOCK IN ROLE OF A HERO

Steps Madly Careering Horse After Others Had Failed to—Throws it Down.

BUGGY NOT BADLY DAMAGED

Oliver Mock pulled off a stellar hero stunt yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, when he rushed into the street and captured a vicious runaway horse belonging to Ed Schantz. Fortunately enough no one was in the buggy when the horse started to run else injury would probably have been done. The frightened animal was careering madly down Morgan street between Third and Fourth streets, when Oliver Mock rushed daringly in front of it, grabbed the bridle, and was dragged for some distance. He had to throw the horse before he could bring it to a standstill. It was considered rather remarkable that the buggy was not damaged, as it had been thrown over on the side and was jerked along over the rough streets. The horse frightened at something and broke away when Miss Judith Colvin started to get into the buggy at her home in West Fifth street. A number of attempts were made to stop the horse before Oliver was successful.

BOY FALLS FROM PORCH

Carrol Sheppple, age 3, Suffers Broken arm at Manilla.

Carrol Sheppple, the little three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sheppple of Shelbyville, was the victim of a very painful accident Tuesday evening about five o'clock at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parker of near Manilla, when he fell off of the porch at the home and suffered a broken bone at the wrist on his left arm. He was running on the porch when he came too near the edge and lost his balance and fell off, suffering the injury.

LIGHTNING HITS I. & C. SUB-STATION

People in Vicinity Get Excited, Think There's a Fire and Order Power Off.

ABOUT $2 WILL COVER DAMAGES

The people of Adams, Decatur county, became excited late yesterday when a bolt of lightning, during the course of the storm that passed over this section of the State, hit an I. & C. sub-station near Adams. The flash from the bolt gave rise to the belief that the sub-station was on fire and somebody ordered the power shut off. The result was that all the cars within a certain distance were stopped when there was no occasion of turning off the power. I. & C. officials were not able to learn who ordered the power turned off. The damage will not amount to more than two dollars. An insulator was burned out, and that was the extent of the damage.

MRS. RUTH SPENCER TO BE ON PROGRAM

Local Girl and Her Husband Will Give Two Concerts at Madison Chautauqua.

THIRD LOCAL PERSON IN WORK

Rushville people are continuing to break into the chautauqua circuit. The latest person to be engaged at some of the various assemblies that are being given in Indiana this year is Mrs. Arnold Spencer of Indianapolis, formerly Miss Ruth Tevis of this city and daughter of the Rev. V. W. Tevis of Rushville. She and her husband, who is a tenor soloist, will appear in two concerts at the Madison chautauqua this year. They will be on the program Thursday, August 20, both afternoon and evening.

The Jesse Pugh Concert company, headed by Jesse Pugh of this city, will give three concerts at the Madison assembly. The company will appear Tuesday night, August 20, and the next day both afternoon and evening.

J. Walter Wilson is another Rushville man who has made good on the chautauqua platform. He is on a tour this season with Kryl's band as a soloist and gives some reading and character sketches.

The Knights of Pythias will meet in their lodge building this evening to arrange for the funeral of George P. Altmeyer. The odgemen will meet at the building Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to attend the funeral in a body.

FOOT INJURED; ASKS DAMAGES

Emery Ratekin Hurt by Heavy "I" Beam Demands $5000 From Logansport Contractors.

NEGLIGENCE IS ALLEGED

James I. Barnes and George Tishock Are Made Defendants in Suit in Circuit Court.

Emery Ratekin, living two and one-half miles west of New Salem, filed a damage suit in the circuit court today, through his attorneys, James I. Barnes and George Tishock, demanding $5000. Barnes is from Logansport and has the contract for the New Salem school house. Tishock is superintending the work and is named as one of the defendants.

The suit is the outgrowth of personal injuries received by Mr. Ratekin, while employed in the construction of the new school building. Mr. Ratekin alleges negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendants. He states in the complaint that on May 14, together with several other men under the direction of Mr. Tishock he was engaged in moving an "I" beam, 30 feet in length, 28 inches high and 10 inches wide. The beam according to the complaint weighed about 3500 pounds. The beam was placed on boards and rollers inserted. A raised place in the ground was encountered and the beam slipped off catching Mr. Ratekin's foot according to the complaint.

Mr. Ratekin alleges that his foot was crushed and lacerated and the ligaments torn so as to injure him permanently. For the injuries sustained he asks $5000. He states that the contractors and defendants in the case furnished no tools or appliances whatsoever to move the heavy beam. By their negligence and carelessness the proper tools and appliances for moving the beam were not supplied, according to the complaint.

USES ROAD DRAG TO GOOD ADVANTAGE

Hal Green Makes Highway Between Here and Five Points Envy of All Farmers.

IS SPEEDWAY FOR MOTORISTS

Hal Green of Jackson township has worked on a road extending from Five Points into Rushville with such care and good judgment in the last few months that he has perfected about the best piece of highway in eastern Indiana. This stretch of road has been the subject of admiration for all motorists who have passed over it. There is an automobilist in a nearby city who pays a visit to Rush county very often just to take a spin over this stretch of road.

Mr. Green has worked wonders with the road by using the road drag at advantageous times. He has exhibited some knowledge of the methods which should be used in keeping a road in good condition. The use of the road drag after a light rain when the surface is wet will smooth the level of a highway off and in time all of the mean holes will be filled up and the road will be ideal. Frank Martin is another farmer who has used the road drag to advantage.

There are two imperial universities in Japan, but women are admitted to neither.

Mrs. Lela Love, wife of Wiley Love, a farmer living near Covena, Ga., says: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and find them to be all you claim for them. They gave me almost instant relief when my kidneys were sluggish and inactive. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from kidney troubles." F. B. Johnson & Co.

In Memory of Mother.

Julia A. Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kendall was born November 11, 1847, departed this life at her late home near Henderson, July 8, 1912, aged 64 years, 7 months and 27 days. She joined the Christian church at the age of 14. August 24, 1865, she was married to Thomas N. Turner. Eleven children were born to them, all of whom are living and 15 grand children.

Words fail to express what this mother has been in this home, ever ready, ever willing to administer to the wants of these grown up sons and daughters. The conflicts of life have been many. The long days of waiting and watching at the bedside is o'er and the crown is won. Her life is worthy of emulation and to these children we would say follow her as she followed Christ. These kind friends and neighbors were ever ready to administer to her wants and did much to make her last days blessed ones. Blessed be her memory.

"A mother dear from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

Sleep, mother dear, thy task is o'er,
Those loving hands shall toil no more.
No more those tender eyes shall weep;
Sleep, dearest mother, gently sleep.

THIS BILL PROVIDES A NEW CABINETEER

House Measure Creates the Department of Labor.

Washington, July 18.—Unanimously the house passed the Sulzer bill creating a department of labor. This bill creates the tenth member of the president's cabinet. It establishes the department of labor and changes the present department of commerce and labor to the department of commerce. A secretary of labor, three assistant secretaries, a solicitor, a chief clerk, a disbursing clerk and other minor employees are provided.

The commissioner general of immigration, the commissioner of labor and several other high officials now in the department of commerce and labor are shifted over to the new department.

The bill gives the department of labor the right to collect and publish all statistics relative to labor and authorizes the secretary to call on any government department for information. It also authorizes the secretary of labor to act as a mediator in questions of industrial dispute and to appoint commissioners of conciliation in labor disputes, thereby giving the influence of the government toward industrial peace.

Threatened to Lynch Umpire.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 18.—Seven members of the state constabulary fought off a mob that tried to have Umpire Cleary of the New York state league. His decisions gave Troy the game and 2,000 persons swarmed onto the field, threatening to lynch the official. The state police used their clubs and finally got Cleary to the dressing room, where he remained two hours. He was disguised in a raincoat and then escorted to a train.

MURPHY FACES
INSURRECTION

New York State Democrats In Open Revolt.

WAR DECLARED ON TAMMANY

Headed by State Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt, Leading Democrats From All Parts of the State Meet and Form Themselves into an Organization Known as Empire State Democracy, to Combat Murphy.

New York, July 18.—State Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt's movement, started a couple of weeks ago to form an independent Democratic organization having for its purpose the prying of Charles F. Murphy from the leadership of the party in this state, was set afoot in promising shape last night when nearly 100 Democrats from all parts of the state, many of them leaders of the party in their districts, met at the Hotel Belmont and formed themselves into an organization which is to be known as the Empire State Democracy.

In the many speeches that were heard during the evening not one speaker said a word that could be construed as being detrimental to the candidacy of Governor Wilson. But outside of this the feeling was strong and emphatic that Mr. Murphy and those allied with him should not be permitted to make up the state ticket.

MAY BE AT LARGE

New York Police Do Not Believe
Young Schwartz Killed Himself.

Morrisstown, N. J., July 18.—Men who know Nathan Schwartz, the young man wanted for the murder of little Julia Connor, declare he was in Whippany Friday looking for work and that, unable to obtain it, went away. Schwartz at one time worked in the Whippany mills and was recognized by old associates. The local police believe Schwartz is in this section of the country seeking employment on some farm.

The body of a youth found in the Hudson river off Hoboken had been partially identified as that of young Schwartz. The boy's father had testified before the grand jury that, after hearing the boy's confession of guilt, he had bidden him go away and kill himself.

Fatal Wreck Occurs on the Southern Road Near Memphis.

Bristol, Tenn., July 18.—A west-bound passenger train on the Southern railroad plunged down an embankment one mile from Vance, Tenn., about four miles west of this city, practically demolishing the greater portion of the flyer, killing instantly Mail Clerk Bevice A. Hodges, seriously injuring his father, Mark L. Hodges, who will die, both of Bristol, and badly injuring two other mail clerks and fifteen passengers.

Detectives Get Cold Feet.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 18.—Detectives who charge Governor Cole L. Blease with accepting bribes for pardons declined to appear in Columbia today when the special committee of the legislature renewed its investigation, on the ground that to assassinate them in South Carolina would be "too safe an amusement." They offered to testify anywhere out of the state at any convenient time, but said their lives would be in peril in Columbia so long as Blease was governor, since his criminal friends could rest assured that they would be pardoned if they put his enemies out of the way.

Tragedy at a Fire.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 18.—Captain Edward Barnett, head of the Central fire station, was killed; George F. Proffatt, chief of the city electric bureau, was knocked unconscious, and a score of firemen were badly shocked when a lantern in Barnett's hand completed a circuit and sent 5,700 volts from an arc light through his own body and into the metal trimmings of a wall 120 feet from the ground. The accident occurred during a fire in the city hall.

Jared Flagg Faces More Trouble.

New York, July 18.—New indictments have been returned by the federal grand jury against Jared Flagg and the men associated with him in his enterprise of offering to make 1 per cent a week for persons who would intrust their money to him for speculation in Wall street.

The President's New Secretary.

Washington, July 18.—Carmel Thompson, assistant secretary of the interior, has begun his new duties as secretary to the president in succession to Charles D. Hilles, who surrendered that office to assume the chairmanship of the Republican national committee.

Tariff Bills Sidetracked.

Washington, July 18.—The senate sidetracked the tariff bills by a vote of 15 to 23, and took up the country civil service bill.

WILLING TO HELP
PROVE STATEMENT

It Is Alleged Police Instigated
Rosenthal Murder.

New York, July 18.—William Shapiro and Louis Libby, owners of the automobile that carried Herman Rosenthal's murderers to the Hotel Metropole and sped them through a ring of policemen, and who are themselves held for the murder, told their lawyer that policemen instigated the assassination and that they are willing to help the district attorney to prove it.

Detectives are searching the city for Big Jack Rose of the Sam Paul association and a friend of Lieutenant Becker of the strong arm squad, and for a little gambler named Itzke, both of whom are wanted in connection with the killing.

Police Commissioner Waldo has sent a letter to District Attorney Whitman in which he urged "that a complete investigation be made by you without any further delay of the allegations made in the press that members of the police force have been in partnership with gamblers, and the statement that you are alleged to have made publicly that members of the department were guilty of instigating the murder of the gambler."

"Immediate action is necessary" continues the letter, "in the interests of good order and that the good reputation of 10,400 men who are honestly doing their duty should not be besmirched by individuals who may be rascals."

District Attorney Whitman believes that the "police system" as it is familiarly known, was largely, if not directly, responsible for the slaying of Rosenthal, who had professed his intention to make further charges that certain of the police were "grafting on gamblers."

POWDER TRUST
MONEY SPURNED

Taft Committee in 1908 Sent Back $20,000.

SOME FURTHER DETAILS GIVEN

Frank H. Hitchcock, Republican Campaign Manager Four Years Ago, Tells Senate Committee About Manner in Which Committee Managed Things in Relation to the Fund Contributed For Election Purposes.

Washington, July 18.—There is $20,000 that ought to be devoted to some worthy branch of the Republican party, unless General T. Coleman Dupont of Delaware has changed his mind. General Dupont wanted to give this $20,000 to President Taft's campaign in 1908, but F. H. Hitchcock, then chairman of the Republican national committee, declined to accept it and turned the money back on General Dupont because the federal government happened to be suing the powder trust, owned largely by the Duponts. General Dupont, however, declined to turn this $20,000 back into the general current of his funds and deposited it as an amount that had been dedicated by him to the Republican cause.

Mr. Hitchcock told about this Dupont incident while testifying before the senate committee that is investigating campaign contributions. He added that the Dupont case was the only one where they refused a contribution in specific terms.

The figures which Mr. Hitchcock gave the senate committee of the campaign of 1908 corresponded exactly with the totals filed at Albany under the campaign publicity law. The national committee collected $1,655,531, and of this amount $620,150 was turned over directly to the state committee and used in the states without passing through the headquarters of the national committee. Mr. Hitchcock explained the machinery through which the Republican national committee, under his leadership, collected its fund and said the committee during the Taft campaign had received very few large contributions.

"Mr. C. P. Taft," he said, "contributed at the outset $50,000; Mr. William Nelson Cromwell contributed $25,000; Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson gave $25,000. That made $100,000 that we had at the opening of the campaign. Then Mr. Carnegie gave $20,000; William S. Cochrane gave $15,000, and there were several contributions of $10,000. Frank Munsey gave $10,000. So also did Whitelaw Reid and M. C. D. Borden, and General Corbin, but General Corbin's contribution was made up, I think, from several contributions by people in Washington who did not give their names."

He added that the contributions to the 1908 Republican campaign were in the main very small. The tobacco trust, he said, had not contributed so far as he knew through large stockholders of the trust. He acknowledged that Mr. Munsey and Mr. Cochrane were stockholders of the United States Steel corporation, but he pointed out that there are thousands of stockholders in the corporation. He did not think that George W. Perkins made any contributions. Mr. Hitchcock denied emphatically that any officers of the International Harvester trust had contributed. Mr. Hitchcock recalled that several banking concerns of New York made contributions. These were usually $25,000 each.

Today the committee is examining William F. Sheehan, who was chairman of the executive committee of the national committee in the Parker campaign of 1904.

Arbitration Board Hearing Both Sides of Engineers' Dispute.

New York, July 18.—Both the railroad and the engineers gave side-roads on the transportation problems of the country to the Straus arbitration board at Manhattan Beach. Warren S. Stone, chief of the engineers' brotherhood, who is conducting the case for the men in the cab, had a number of engineers on the stand to tell just what it means to drive the fast limited trains at more than a mile a minute over the rails, and President B. A. Worthington of the Chicago & Alton advanced the grounds on which the roads are opposed to paying the engineers the increase they ask.

DOUBT ONLY IN ONE DECISION

Chicago Record-Herald, An Unprejudiced Newspaper, Gives Impartial View of Convention.

WHO IS TO BLAME FOR IT

Does Not Believe in Unit Rule Yet Principle Was Involved in California Case.

The Record-Herald which was not pro-Taft in the pre-convention contests over the seating of delegates in the Republican convention prints the following editorial in reply to an inquiry by a correspondent who sought an unprejudiced statement regarding the charge of fraud in the convention:

"A correspondent R. A. Davisson, of Arthur, Ill., recognizing the fairness, sanity and candor of the comments of the Record-Herald on political issues and affairs, asks it to say frankly and explicitly what it thinks of the charge of fraud and delegate stealing made against the Taft men in the Chicago convention. These charges have caused tens of thousands of Republicans much pain and uneasiness, Mr. Davisson observes, and an impartial opinion would be deeply appreciated.

"Sincerely and frankly, then, the Record-Herald does not know whether there was fraud or delegate stealing at the Republican convention. It believes, and said at the time, that two California district delegates were improperly seated under a party anti-unit rule that should have been set aside in obedience to California's new primary law. We do not believe in any unit rule but under the new system of popular expressions of preference and morally pledged delegates the state law should be decisive. In the California case an issue of principle, law and morals was involved, and any intelligent observer could easily get at the merits of the contest.

"Not so in a single one of the other contests. How many of the delegates actually knew what the evidence was on either side in any of these contests? That many of the contests were trivial and baseless was conceded by the Roosevelt adherents on the national committee and on the credentials committee. Unanimous decisions were rendered in some cases. In several others Roosevelt and La Follette men voted with Taft men.

"Finally, of the 252 delegates contested only as to some seventy delegates was the charge of fraud and stealing made responsibly and emphatically. It is still iterated and reiterated, but it is as unqualifiedly and vehemently denied by Taft supporters. President Butler, of Columbia, has explicitly denied it. Mr. Bryan saw 'bias,' but he did not charge fraud or conscious misconduct. A LaFollette delegate has formerly 'reported' to his chief that in his opinion there was absolutely no fraud, no conscious 'taking' of delegates. A pledged Roosevelt delegate from Massachusetts, Loyal L. Jenkins, of Boston, who fulfilled every obligation he owed to his constituents, says in a sign statement:

In the so-called contested cases there was a chance for an honest difference of opinion. After carefully hearing the points in controversy, I concluded that no fraud or shadow of fraud could honestly be charged against any one. Holding that belief, I contend that the nomination was properly and legally made.

"On the other hand many Roosevelt men are convinced that there was fraud or wilful stealing of delegates. How is an outsider who wishes to be fair and honest to decide whether there was fraud or not? The Record-Herald does not know, does not believe in calling reputable men thieves without evidence, and has, therefore, declined to express a positive opinion. "It certainly wishes that there were in existence a body of independent, high-minded, absolutely trustworthy men to whom the contests might be submitted. There is no such body; there was no such body at Chicago. The machinery there employed was not new. It had been used before. Contests had been decided before, and not always with universal satisfaction. In 1908 there were 217 contests and the Roosevelt men decided only three against their own side. The contests were heard and decided, in 1908 as in 1912, by the agencies created for that purpose, and the convention upheld them under the usual parliamentary rules and precedents. If the methods and machinery are bad, they have been bad for decades. Why has no provision been made for an appeal from committees to some impartial and outside body? None, apparently, has been deemed necessary. Whom, then, are we to blame for the particular situation in 1912?"

"A plague o' both your houses," says the proposed third party to the two old organizations. That remark was made by Mercutio, killed in the third act of Shakespeare's tragedy because the bard found that his excessive brilliancy was likely to kill the play.

MARSHALL WILL HURT THE TICKET

Indiana Governor's Record on Temperance Question Will Not be Overlooked in Campaign.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IS HOT

Declares "Little Tom" a Double Game is Friend of Liquor Interest And Sunday Moral Lecturer.

The Indiana Anti-Saloon League comes out pointedly against the candidacy of Governor Marshall for vice president in this week's issue of its official organ the American Issue, which will appear today. It regrets that many Indiana votes will be lost for Woodrow Wilson for president this fall because support of Wilson necessitates support of Marshall.

The Rev. E. S. Shumake, Indiana editor of the Issue, in an editorial entitled, "Marshall's Bad Liquor Record," says in part:

The sentiment of the nation unquestionably approves the selection of Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore as the Democratic nominee for president.

"However, no friend of the temperance cause can take any comfort over the nomination of Thomas R. Marshall, Indiana's chief executive, for vice president. This latter nomination was vigorously opposed by Mr. Bryan and, are informed, by many of Wilson's friends. But the machinations of Tom Taggart, Tammany's chief, Murphy; Roger Sullivan of Illinois and other pro-liquor bosses bore down all opposition and placed on the ticket as Wilson's running mate a candidate who is objectionable to the church and temperance people of the country.

"How do the home-loving people of America like the prospect of seeing Mr. Marshall—the friend of the liquor interests, the foe of the temperance reform, the moral lecturer of Sundays and the liquor advocate of the other times—a veritable Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—become the second chief man in this nation?"

"Mr. Bryan was right in opposing his nomination, as he was right in favoring that of Wilson. Many voters next November will regret that they can not vote for Wilson for president, because in doing so they would have to vote for Marshall."

The Rev. Mr. Shumake said yesterday that no organized opposition to Governor Marshall will be made by the Indiana Anti-Saloon League because Governor Marshall will be a candidate for national election, but that the state organization will defer to the action of the national organization.

"Every State superintendent in the country, however, has the facts concerning the attitude of the Indiana organization toward Governor Marshall," Mr. Shumake said.

Swat the Fly

1. Where is the Fly born? In manure and filth.
2. Where does the Fly live? In all kinds of filth and he carried filth on his feet and wings.
3. Where does the Fly go when he leaves the manure pile, the privy vault and the spittoon? He goes into the kitchen, the dining room and the store.
4. What does the Fly do there? He walks on the bread, fruit and vegetables; he wipes his feet on the butter and he bathes in the milk.
5. Does the Fly visit patients with consumption, typhoid fever and cholera infantum? He does and he may call on you next carrying the infection of these diseases.
6. What diseases does the Fly carry? Typhoid fever, consumption, diarrheal diseases, diphtheria, scarlet fever and in fact any communicable disease.
7. How can the Fly be prevented? By destroying all the filth about your premises; screen the privy vault; cover the manure bin; burn all waste matter; destroy your garbage; screen your house.

Lockwood Replies.

George B. Lockwood, editor of the Marion Chronicle, in replying to the statements concerning his opposition to Horace G. Stilwell and Edwin M. Lee, Bull Moose party leaders, issued by Stilwell and Lee, says:

"It's the bit dog-that howls. The Chronicle repeats that the activities of Stilwell and Lee in Indiana politics at this time are inspired by their desire to serve the purposes of the Indiana liquor machine by helping the brewery bosses maintain their control of the State government in Indiana."

"It is a noteworthy fact that county and legislative tickets are being urged by these Republican allies of Taggart only in counties where there is a prospect of Republican success. In the big Democratic counties it is not proposed to put third tickets in the field at all."

"It is a notorious fact that Edwin M. Lee was the wide-open mayor of a wide-open town in southern Indiana before he entered State politics. It is a notorious fact that four years ago he was against the Republican State platform declared for county local option."

"It is a notorious fact that two years ago Lee was one of the bosses who steam rolled out of the Republican State platform a declaration for county local option. It is a notorious fact that Stilwell was the leader of the Madison county 'wets' in the last local option campaign in that county, and that he had no other business while that fight was on but to save the saloons."

"It is also a notorious fact that he has been fighting the battle of the liquor interests within the Republican party and abandoning that party whenever it failed to serve these interests. He has also been a lobbyist before the Indiana legislature for years in behalf of other branches of big business which approve the reactionary platform adopted by the Taggart convention and the reactionary bosses who controlled it."

Democratic Tariff.

The Democratic national platform is certainly amusing. Here is one paragraph:

"We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government, under the constitution, has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of government, honestly and economically administered."

Well, what else does the government do but collect enough duty to avoid the necessity of direct taxation? The government is honestly and economically administered. There is not a single point scored in this plank.

The next plank reads:

"The high Republican tariff is the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth; it is a system of taxation which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; under its operation the American farmer and laboring man are the chief sufferers; it raises the cost of necessities of life to them, but does not protect their product or wages."

Every party, regardless of party, knows that there is not a word of truth in this statement. No Democrat would even attempt to argue the point.

And here comes the amusing part of the platform. After attacking the tariff, and assailing the proposition, the platform pledges the party to stand up for the tariff. Here is the plank:

"We recognize that our system of tariff taxation is intimately connected with the business of the country, and we favor the ultimate attainment of the principles we advocate by legislation that will not injure or destroy legitimate industry."

Legislation Not All.

There can be no good primary law without a supplemental registration law and a corrupt practices act that means something. At this time Indiana's registration law is a farce, for the reason that it is not safeguarded against fraudulent registrations. Further, it is objectionable because it saddles heavy expenses on the people through its method of precinct registration and double salary for registration board members. It can be shaped into sensible and worthy form.

The Indiana corrupt practices act is a joke in many ways, but there are possibilities to be worked out by competent and honest men. It is commonly asserted that Indiana people will demand primary legislation. It is of no avail to pass good primary laws unless the primary shall be based on honest registration and safeguarded against corruption. It is hoped that the stirring public conscience which calls for primaries and rule of the people through honest, popular expression properly registered will go so far as to insist on needed supplemental laws and finally on the rigid enforcement of the statutes.

Sam Sanderson Says:

How can a fellow read all these hot weather dos and don'ts and still not think about the heat?

Remedial and reform laws fall in the hands of weak or corrupt officers. Public officials must be backed by public opinion. In some cases official action must even be compelled by public opinion. So getting legislation is not the only thing. The problem is not getting the laws, but in obtaining the final or ultimate good for the operation and enforcement of the laws.

Take is Seriously.

One of the most marked characteristics of the American team of athletes now making such high marks at Stockholm is the tendency of the men from this country to take athletic work very seriously.

With the British, athletics is always a kind of side issue, a gentleman's diversion, which he takes up more or less incidentally to other pursuits.

The American is too whole hearted to consider even sport in this manner. What is worth doing at all is worth doing well. If he is going into athletics, he goes in to win, and no means of winning will pass untried.

On the whole it is a fine spirit. With some men it leads to the fritting away of energy in pursuits disconnected with the real ends of life. But with others it is a great training to learn to do some one particular thing better than anyone else, no matter if it is merely running 100 yards. The same spirit taken into business spells a grand success.

Will H. Craig, the veteran editor of the Hamilton County Ledger, in a long article condemning the Bull Moose party movement, and criticizing Roosevelt as the "only man in this country good enough to be President," says:

This is the critical time in the history of the Republican party. It is a time for sober thinking. Republicans should not be misled by sensational statements in irresponsible papers or by radical factionists. The Republican party is just as true to its principles today as it has been in the past. The only things that threaten the party are minor details of party administration and mad lust for power by a few ambitious statesmen. The saying that "a house divided against itself can not stand" is just as true now as when first uttered. The proposed third party means just one thing—the success of the Democratic party. There is not a ghost of a show for the third party in nation, State, district or county. The hope or expectation that Democrats will join the third party is all moonshine.

Bryan, in the Commoner, indorses Wilson, who in a letter some time ago ridiculed Bryan. In an editorial on the first page of his newspaper, the Commoner, at Lincoln, Neb., this week, Colonel William Jennings Bryan says:

"The ticket nominated at Baltimore is a strong one. Governor Wilson has appealed to the imagination of the reformers of the country; his record in office is a brilliant one, and his fighting qualities excite enthusiasm among his followers. It will be a lively campaign. He is the very antithesis of President Taft, and is already drawing progressive Republicans to his standard. Governor Marshall's achievements as chief executive of Indiana won him such a strong support on the first ballot that it only required a second ballot to settle the contest in his favor. He is a great campaigner, and will be a powerful aid on the stump. Hurrah for Wilson and Marshall."

Horace Stilwell, who has appointed himself one of the bosses to lead the third party in this State, is quoted as saying this: "I am a 'wet.' Mr. Lockwood, I have heard is 'dry.' We are individuals and have our personal beliefs and convictions." This information may be classed as interesting but wholly superfluous. Nobody who knows anything of Horace Stilwell in politics can be ignorant of the fact that he is "wet" or that "wetness" is his principal purpose in politics. As an individual he has a right to be "wet," but when he starts out to break up the Republican party he must not expect to get very far without being unmasked and exposed. He is wet, very wet, and will be unable to fool many Republicans with his palpably false pretenses. His little scheme of boosting the brewery interests by busting the Republican party will not get very far with intelligent Republicans.

The first test and mark of an intelligent progressive is his absolute determination to secure good government regardless of irrelevant and hypocritical partisan cries, to separate national from State and local issues. To insist on full State and county tickets where desirable, fit, properly chosen nominees refuse to bolt the Republican party or join a new one is to pursue a policy of mere spite, revenge and incredible folly.

The difference between the Taggart party and the Lee-Stilwell annex is that the Taggart bunch has the front door open, while Lee and Stilwell are running a political blind tiger, comments the Marion Chronicle.

With what sanctity the Indianapolis Star uses the names of Edwin and Horace! But these two self-appointed Bull Moose leaders have Albert J.'s stamp on them and that is sufficient for the Star.

A Boston school boy on being asked to tell something about Henry W. Longfellow and James Russell Lowell said that he could only remember the fielders of the Red Sox for five or six years.

In view of the mix-up over the electoral college, it would seem advisable not to follow the usual custom of sending office boys and printer's devils to constitute this body.

The fact that Woodrow Wilson called for a glass of sour lemonade for dinner created alarm on Wall street, and declines of one to three points were registered.

The campaign managers never know where the money comes from, but as the givers were all philanthropists with a desire to uplift the world, it is no doubt all right.

The British Olympic athletes might try Hy Spy or Marbles.

HOW many of your hard earned dollars go up in ice each year? A great many more than you would like to have, undoubtedly. The "main question" with most of us is how we can best reduce this number of dollars to a minimum. The solution of the problem lies with the refrigerator.

Q The price you pay to-day for a refrigerator is but a small part of the price you will pay in the life time of the refrigerator for ice.

Q It is therefore, economy to buy the best refrigerator—the refrigerator, which because of its scientific construction and superior insulation, will use the least ice and will stand the hardest usage for the greatest number of years.

TO MUZZLE DOG IS TO SAFE GAURD

Hydrophobia is Rare Compared to Number of Scares Caused by Rabid Canines.

STEPS TO TAKE IF BITTEN

Mad Dog Doesn't Start Out to Bite Persons But is Just Irritable.

Some days ago an article made mention of hydrophobia as a rare disease. It is rare as compared to the number of scares that arise from the fear of it and the number of alleged mad dogs that are heard from every season. It is but truth, however, to say that this very fear of the disease is founded upon its terrible action when it does occur, and it is also true that just now there is more hydrophobia in Indiana than usual.

A mad dog does not, as some credulous folk suppose, go out especially looking for someone to bite. A dog thus afflicted is in an agony all the time, is partly blind, and as a consequence is irritable. It will often snap at anything, whether a living creature or a senseless object, which happens to fall in its aimless path, but it will very seldom if ever turn aside, even as much as a few feet, to molest anything.

Local physicians have suggested that, when anyone is bitten by any dog which is suspected of having rabies, the thing to do with that dog is not to kill it unless of course, it is plainly rabid, but to shut it up. Then, if it really has rabies the disease will become plain very soon, and the dog will die. No dog ever gets well of hydrophobia. By this means it could be found out whether or not the dog was really rabid or merely vicious, and precaution would be taken accordingly.

The first thing to do, of course, if bitten even slightly by any dog, is to have the wound thoroughly treated by a physician. No other plan is safe in the least.

All this naturally calls up the ancient and ever present problem of Rushville dogs, which are only a little less numerous than the historic and now extinct scavengers of Naples. Richmond has compelled the muzzling of all dogs within the city. Some places have pounds. Some have special dog taxes which help, and any of these arrangements, it is considered is better than none.

"I don't understand French."
"It's English and it's quite worn out, as if it had been read over and over. Several of the pages are falling out."
"Oh, I've read that. I just remember. It's a rattling good story, too. About the hunchback and the gypsy girl who tells fortunes and has a pet goat. The priest, who's a villain, falls off the steeple and clings to a gutter by his finger nails with his enemy watching him. It's the finest kind of a story."

"What a pity that you've read it! Oh, here's one that's evidently been a great favorite. It's in paper and it's all thumbed and torn. Somebody's written across the top, 'Of all the damned fool people—'. Oh, I beg your pardon, I read it before I realized. The name is 'Wife in Name Only.' It doesn't seem the kind of title that makes you want to read the book, does it?"

"Wife in Name Only!" he gave a short laugh. "It certainly isn't the kind of name that would make me want to read a book."

"Nor me," said a deep voice behind them.
They both turned to see Buford, the actor, standing back of the table, his tall, angular figure silhouetted against the pale oblong of the uncurtained window. He was smiling suavely, but at the same time with a sort of uneasy, assumed assurance, which suggested that he was not unused to rebuffs.

"That, certainly," he said, "is not a name to recommend a book to any man—any man, that is, who has or ever had a wife."

He advanced into the circle of the firelight, blandly beaming at the young man, who, leaning back in his chair, was eying him with surprised inquiry, never having seen him before. The look did not chill the friendly effusion of the actor who, approaching Dominick, said with the full, deep resonance of his remarkable voice:

"Congratulations, my dear sir, congratulations. Not alone on your recovery, but on the fact that you are here with us at all." He held out his large hand, the skin chapped and red with the cold, and the long fingers closed with a wrenching grip on Dominick's. "We were not sure, when you arrived among us a few nights ago, that we would have the felicity of seeing you so soon up and around—in fact, we were doubtful whether we would ever see you up and around."

"Thanks, very kind of you. Oh, I'm all right now." Dominick pressed the hand in return and then, bending a little forward, sent a glance of imploring inquiry round the stranger's shoulder at Rose.

She caught the eye, read its behest, and presented the new-comer:

"Mr. Ryan, this is Mr. Buford who is snowed in here with us. Mr. Buford came here the same day as you, only he came on the Murphysville stage."

Buford sat down between them on one of the horseshair chairs that were

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however, is not a sign of old age, but a sign of youth. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Rushville Citizens Show the Way.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. Read what a Rushville citizen says:

"Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 North Arthur street, Rushville, Ind., says: 'Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and we have found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. A member of our family suffered from attacks of backache for several years, the trouble being caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention and thinking they might prove of benefit, we procured a supply at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. The use of two boxes entirely relieved the backache and strengthened the kidneys. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and I still take pleasure in saying a good word for them.'

socially arranged round the table. The firelight threw into prominence the bony angles of his thin face and glazed the backward sweep of his hair, dark brown, and worn combed away from his forehead, where a pair of heavy, flexible eyebrows moved up and down like an animated commentary on the conversation. When anything surprising was said they went up, anything puzzling or painful they were drawn down. He rested one hand on his knee, the fingers turned in, and, sitting bolt upright, buttoned tight into his worn frock-coat, turned a glance of somewhat deprecating amiability upon the invalid.

"You had a pretty close call a pretty close call," he said. "If the operator at Rocky Bar hadn't had the sense to wire up here, that would have been the end of your life story."

Dominick had heard this from every member of the snowed-in party. Repetition was not making it any more agreeable, and there was an effect of abrupt ungraciousness in his short answer which was merely a word of comment.

"Didn't the people at the Rocky Bar Hotel try to dissuade you from starting?" said Buford. "They must have known it was dangerous. They must have been worried about you or they wouldn't have telegraphed up."

"Oh, I believe they did." The young man tried to hide the annoyance the questions gave him under a dry brevity of speech. "They did all that they ought to have done. I'll see them again on my way down."

"And yet you persisted!" The actor turned to Rose with whom, as he sat beside her at table, he had become quite friendly. "The blind confidence of youth, Miss Cannon, isn't it a grand, inspiring thing?"

Dominick shifted his aching feet under the rug. He was becoming exceedingly irritated and impatient, and wondered how much longer he would be able to respond politely to the conversational assiduousness of the stranger.

"Now," continued Buford, "kindly satisfy my curiosity on one point. Why, when you were told of the danger of the enterprise, did you start?"

"Perhaps I liked the danger, wanted it to tone me up. I'm a bank clerk, Mr. Buford, and my life's monotonous. Danger's a change."

He raised his voice and spoke with sudden, rude defiance. Buford looked quickly at him, while his eyebrows went up nearly to his hair.

"A bank clerk, oh!" he said with a falling inflection of disappointment, much chagrined to discover that the child of millions occupied such a humble niche. "I—I was not aware of that."

"An assistant cashier," continued Dominick in the same key of exasperation, "and I managed to get a holiday at this season because my father was one of the founders of the bank and they allow me certain privileges."

If you would like to know anything else ask me and I'll answer as well as I know how."

His manner and tone so plainly indicated his resentment of the other's curiosity that the actor flushed and shrank. He was evidently well-meaning and sensitive, and the young man's rudeness hurt rather than angered him. For a moment nothing was said, Buford making no response other than to clear his throat, while he stretched out one arm and pulled down his cuff with a jerking movement. There was constraint in the air, and Rose, feeling that he had been treated with unnecessary harshness, sought to palliate it by lifting the book on her lap and saying to him:

"This is the book we were talking about when you came in, Mr. Buford, 'Wife in Name Only.' Have you read it?"

She handed him the ragged volume, and holding it off he eyed with a scrutiny all the more marked by the way he drew his brows down till they hung like bushy eaves over his eyes.

"No, my dear young lady. I have not. Nor do I feel disposed to do so. 'Wife in Name Only!' That tells a whole story without reading a word. Were you going to read it?"

"No; Mr. Ryan and I were just looking over them. We were thinking about reading one of them aloud. This one happened to be on the pile."

"To me," continued Buford, "the name is repelling because it suggests sorrows of my own."

There was a pause. He evidently expected a question which undoubtedly was not going to come from Dominick, who sat fallen together in the arm-chair looking at him with moody ill-humor. There was more hope from Rose, who gazed at the floor but said nothing. Buford was forced to repeat with an unctuous depth of tone, "Suggests sorrows of my own," and fasten his glance on her, so that, as she raised her eyes, they encountered the commanding encouragement of his.

"Sorrows of your own?" she repeated timidly, but with the expected questioning inflection.

"Yes, my dear Miss Cannon," returned the actor with a melancholy which was full of a rich, dark enjoyment. "My wife is one in name only."

There was another pause, and neither showing any intention of breaking it, Buford remarked:

"That sorrow is mine."

"What sorrow?" said Dominick brusquely.

"The sorrow of a deserted man," returned the actor with now, for the first time, something of the dignity of real feeling in his manner.

"Oh," the monosyllable was extremely noncommittal, but it had the air of finality as though Dominick intended to say no more.

"Has she—er—left you?" said the girl in a low and rather awe-stricken voice.

The actor inclined his head in an acquiescent bow:

"She has."

Again there was a pause. Unless Buford chose to be more biographical, the conversation appeared to have come to a deadlock. Neither of the listeners could at this stage break into his reserve with questions and yet to switch off on a new subject was not to be thought of at a moment of such emotional intensity. The actor evidently felt this, for he said suddenly, with a relapse into a lighter tone and letting his eyebrows escape from an overshadowing closeness to his eyes:

"But why should I trouble you with the sorrows that have cast their shadow on me? Why should my matrimonial troubles be allowed to darken the brightness of two young lives which have not yet known the joys and the perils of the wedded state?"

The pause that followed this remark was the most portentous that had yet fallen on the trio. Rose cast a surreptitious glance at the dark figure of young Ryan, lying back in the shadows of the arm-chair. As

For Hay Fever and Rose Cold Try Ely's Cream Balm. It Gives Instant Relief.

"Balm" is just the word for this soothing, healing, antiseptic Cream. Its effect in cases of Hay Fever and Rose Colds are almost magical. You just grease the nostrils with a little of the Cream, inhale the pleasant, aromatic fumes: and in a few minutes your head begins to clear, the soreness is relieved, and the sneezing, sniffing and weeping stopped. People who have suffered for years with Hay Fever and Rose Cold can be free from all the distressing symptoms by simply using Ely's Cream Balm morning and night during the Hay Fever Season.

Hay Fever is due to an irritated, inflamed condition of the mucous membrane (inside skin) of the nose and throat. Strong powders, snuffs and sprays simply aggravate the trouble, but Ely's Cream Balm soothes, heals and strengthens the raw, sore membranes, and in this way not only relieves the trouble but prevents its return.

she looked he stirred and said with the abrupt, hard dryness which had marked his manner since Buford's entrance:

"Don't take too much for granted, Mr. Buford. I've known some of the joys and perils of the wedded state myself."

The actor stared at him in open-eyed surprise.

"Do I rightly understand," he said, "that you are a married man?"

"You do," returned Dominick.

"Really now, I never would have guessed it! Pardon me for not having given you the full dues of your position. Your wife, I take it, has no knowledge of the risk she recently ran of losing her husband?"

"I hope not."

"Well," he replied with a manner of sudden cheery playfulness, "we'll take good care that she doesn't learn. When the wires are up we'll concoct a telegram that shall be a masterpiece of diplomatic lying. Lucky young man to have a loving wife at home. Of all of us you are the one who can best realize the meaning of the line, 'Tis sweet to know there is an eye to mark our coming and—'"

Dominick threw the rug off and rose to his feet.

"If you can get Perley to help me I'll go upstairs again. I'm tired and I'll go back to my room."

He tried to step forward, but the pain of his unhealed foot was unbearable, and he caught the edge of the table and held it, his face paling with sudden anguish. The actor, startled by the abruptness of his uprising, approached him with a vague proffer of assistance and was arrested by his sharp command:

"Go and get Perley! He's in the bar probably. I can't stand this way for long. Hurry up!"

Buford ran out of the room, and Rose somewhat timidly drew near the young man, braced against the table, his eyes down-bent, his face hard in the struggle with sudden and unfamiliar pain.

"Can't I help you?" she said. "Perley may not be there. Mr. Buford and I can get you up stairs."

"Oh, no," he answered, his words short but his tone more conciliatory. "It's nothing to bother about. I'd have wrung that man's neck if I'd had to listen to him five minutes longer."

Here Perley and Buford entered, and the former, offering his support to the invalid, led him hobbling out of the door into the hall. The actor looked after them for a moment and then came back to the fire where Miss Cannon was standing, thoughtfully regarding the burning logs.

"I've no doubt," he said, "that young Mr. Ryan is an estimable gentleman, but he certainly appears to be possessed by a very impatient and ugly temper."

Buford had found Miss Cannon one of the most amiable and charming ladies he had ever met, and it was therefore a good deal of a surprise to have her turn upon him a face of cold, reproving disagreement, and remark in a voice that matched it:

"I don't agree with you at all, Mr. Buford, and you seem quite to forget that Mr. Ryan has been very sick and is still in great pain."

Buford was exceedingly abashed. He would not have offended Miss Cannon for anything in the world, and it seemed to him that a being so compact of graciousness and consideration would be the first to censure an exhibition of ill-humor such as young Ryan had just made. He stammered an apologetic sentence and it did not add to his comfort to see that she was not entirely mollified by it and to feel that she exhaled a slight, disapproving coldness that put him at a great distance and made him feel mortified and ill at ease.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Unknown Eros.

The ten days that followed were among the most important of Dominick Ryan's life. Looking back at them he wondered that he had been so blind to the transformation of his being which was taking place. Great emotional crises are often not more recognized, by the individuals, than great transitional epochs are known by the nations experiencing them. Dominick did not realize that the most engrossing, compelling passion he had ever felt was slowly invading him. He did not argue that he was falling in love with a woman that he could never own and of whom it was a sin to think. He did not argue or think about anything. He was as a vessel gradually filling with elemental forces, and like the vessel he was passive till some jar would shake it and the forces would run over. Meantime he was held by a determination, mutinous and unreasoning as the determination of a child, to live in the present. He had the feeling of the desert traveler who has found the oasis. The desert lay behind him, burning and sinister with the agony of his transit, and the desert lay before him with its horrors to be faced, but for the moment he could lie still and rest and forget by the fountain under the cool of the trees.

He did not consciously think of Rose. But if she were not there he was uneasy till she came again. His secret exhilaration at her approach, the dead blankness of his lack of her when she was absent, told him nothing. These were the feelings he had, and they filled him and left no cool residue of reason wherewith to watch and guard. He was taken unawares, so dreadfully confident of his allegiance to his particular private tragedy that he did not admit the possibility of a defection. A sense of rest was on him and he set it down—if he ever thought of it at all—to the relief of a temporary respite. Poor Dominick, with his inexperience of sweet things, did not argue that respite from pain should be a quiescent, contented condition of being, far removed from that state of secret, troubled gladness that thrilled him at the sound of a woman's footstep.

No situation could have been invented better suited for the fostering of sentiment. His helpless state demanded her constant attention. The attitude of nurse to patient, the solicitude of the consoling woman for the disabled, suffering man, have been, since time immemorial, recognized aids to romance. Rose, if an unawak-ened woman, was enough of one to enjoy richly this maternal office of alternate cossetting and ruling one who, in the natural order of things, should have stood alone in his strength, dictating the law. Perhaps the human female so delights in this particular opportunity for tyranny because it is one of her few chances for indulging her passion for authority.

"I Don't Agree With You at All, Mr. Buford."

Rose, if she did not quite revel in it, discreetly enjoyed her period of dominance. In the beginning Dominick had been not a man but a patient—about the same to her as the doll is to the little girl. Then when he began to get better, and the man rose, tingling with renewed life, from the ashes of the patient, she quickly fell back into the old position. With the inherited, dainty deceptiveness of generations of women, who, while they were virtuous, were also charming, she relinquished her dominion and retreated into that enfolded maidenly reserve and docility which we feel quite sure was the manner adopted by the ladies of the Stone Age when they felt it necessary to manage their lords.

She was as unconscious of all this as Dominick was of his growing absorption in her. If he was troubled she was not. The days saw her growing gayer, more blithe and light-hearted. She sang about the corridors, her smile grew more radiant, and every man in the hotel felt the power of her awakening womanhood. Her boyish frankness of demeanor was still undimmed by the first blurring breath of passion. If Dominick was not in the parlor her disappointment was as candid as a child's whose mother had forgotten to bring home candy. All that she showed of consciousness was that when he was there and there was no disappointment, she concealed her satisfaction, wrapped herself in a sudden, shy quietness, as completely extinguishing of all beneath as a nun's habit.

The continued, enforced intimacy into which their restricted quarters and indoor life threw them could not have been more effectual in fanning the growing flame if designed by a malicious Fate. There was only one sitting-room, and, unable to go out, they sat side by side in it all day. They read together, they talked, they played cards. They were seldom alone, but the presence of Bill Cannon, groaning over the fire with a three-weeks-old newspaper for company, was not one that diverted their attention from each other; and Cora and Willoughby, as opponents in a game of euchre, only helped to accentuate the comradeship which leagued them together in defensive alliance.

WABASH COLLEGE IS WORLD'S CRITERION

GREATEST INSTITUTIONS LOOK TO PROF. HAINES FOR SUGGESTIONS ABOUT GREEK PLAY.

WIFE'S NEEDLE PROVES HELP

Head of Greek Department Is Assisted by Mrs. Haines in Preparing Costumes for Students—"Drama Day" a Feature at Winona.

The Greek department of Wabash college will present the Greek play, Euripides' "Electra," for the first time at Winona Lake the evening of July 22. Wabash college is the standard by which all colleges and universities measure the merit of their presentations of the Greek play. Prof. Daniel D. Haines of Wabash college is recognized as the greatest authority on the proper staging of the Greek drama, and has given infinite attention to the details of such features as proper costumes and stage settings. In this work he has been assisted by Mrs. Haines, whose ingenuity with the needle has added many a realistic touch to the play that otherwise might have been overlooked by even such painstaking research as Professor Haines has made. Such institutions of learning as Yale, Harvard, Cornell and the other great colleges, look to the Wabash college Greek department for light on the question of presenting the Greek drama. "Electra" will be presented at Winona Lake in the auditorium July 22, 24 and 26.

This latter date will be "Drama day." The program will open in the morning with the Bible hour and later a band concert will be given. At 11:00 a. m. William Mather Lewis will give a lecture on a subject that is appropriate. At 2:30 in the afternoon "Electra" will be given. At 7:30 p. m. an orchestra will give a short prelude in the auditorium, and at 7:45 the sacred grand opera, "Joseph," will be given. The whole day's program will make a genuine "Drama day," but the program will be such that it will be popular with those who love a "good show" for the show's sake as well as those who look upon such events with the critical and literary eye.

"Drama day" at Winona lake, however, is only one of the many featured days of the program.

PURPOSE ALTRUISTIC

Winona's Aim Is to Be of Service to Public.

Its Assembly Program Presents the Best of Lyceum Talent and Its Bible Conference Is Greatest in the World.

Winona Lake, Ind., the home of Winona Assembly and Bible Conference, is a much-misunderstood community. To the public it is thought of generally as a summer resort, but it is much more than that.

Winona Lake is on the east shores of Lake Winona, a body of water three miles long and two miles wide. It is 110 miles east of Chicago and forty miles west of Fort Wayne on the Pennsylvania and Big Four railroads.

It has Winona college and Winona College of Agriculture, as well as Winona academy and the preparatory school. The public schools also are at hand. It has its own stores, its own laundry, its own postoffice, its own railway and interurban stations, and its own telephone system and light and power plant.

The purpose of Winona is to elevate the public with which it comes into contact—to furnish the best of lyceum talent during its Assembly and to bring together the greatest ministers, evangelists and evangelistic singers during the Bible conference. Winona Bible conference is the greatest conference in the world.

BOARD IS FACING A NEW QUESTION

Involves Many Millions of Dollars in the State.

ASSESSMENT OF FRANCHISES

State Board of Tax Commissioners Presented With Appeal From South Bend Corporation Which Raises a Question Never Before Presented to the Board and Which Probably Will Have to Go to the Courts.

Indianapolis, July 18.—The state board of tax commissioners has been presented with an appeal by the Indiana and Michigan Electric company of South Bend, a question of taxation which involves many millions of dollars in the state. The question demands an answer from the state board as to whether a county board of review has the right to place a tax valuation on a franchise held by a public service corporation and to list the value on the county tax duplicate.

The board of review of St. Joseph county, where South Bend is situated, decided it had the right to assess the franchise held by the company in South Bend and appraised it at $100,000. The corporation sought to have the action set aside in the county board, but was not successful, and appealed to the state board.

The question had never before been presented to the state board. While the statute provides for the assessment of franchises, the state board had no knowledge, official or otherwise, of a county board having before attempted directly to assess a franchise. The question has not been in the courts, and no official interpretation of the law by any state authority has been made.

The question will probably go to the courts, no matter how the state board decides, as the decision will involve hundreds of franchises in the state, many of which are held to be worth more than a million dollars each.

BEAUTY DOCTORS

Called to Face State Board of Medical Examination.

Indianapolis, July 18.—Secretary of the State Board of Medical Examination and Registration Dr. W. T. Gott of Crawfordsville was host at the statehouse to a lot of nervous women. They were nervous because their business, that of "beauty doctors," was about to be interfered with. They came in response to letters sent out by the secretary in which it was set out they were probably trespassing in the realm of licensed physicians without obtaining licenses and were menacing the health of their patrons.

Some way to "fix it up" so they could continue their operations was the thing sought by the "beauty doctors," but the board's secretary was firm in his stand that they were probably violating the law, and that if they persisted, it would be a matter for consideration probably by the courts. "These 'beauty doctors,'" said Dr. Gott, "are doing a work which comes within the realm of the dermatologist, or skin specialist. We require the dermatologist to pass an examination and obtain a license. To permit a mere tyro in a 'beauty shop' to do the things we deny the right of a trained physician to do without a license, which means he has satisfied the state of his ability to do the work he proposes, would be a gross neglect of duty."

"We have sent out a large number of letters and propose to send a great many more. We are warning the 'beauty doctors' they are probably violating the law. The matter will be taken before the attorney general to determine the powers of the state board, which will consider the question rather fully, probably in the August meeting. What we are aiming to do is to protect the 'beauty doctors' patron from an ignorant use of things dangerous."

Auto Plunged From Ferryboat.

Washington, Ind., July 18.—The body of John Dayton, a liveryman of Plainville, this county, who was drowned at Edwardsport, has not been recovered. Dayton had driven a passenger to Bicknell in an automobile and was returning home at the time of the accident. He drove the machine on a ferryboat and lost control of it. The machine plunged over the side of the boat, carrying Dayton with it, and disappeared in forty feet of water.

WILSON TO PICK A BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Important Conference Being Held at Sea Girl Today.

Sea Girl, N. J., July 18.—This afternoon Governor Wilson received from the Democratic committee the formal notification that his slightest wish was law at Chicago the other day. He accepted the information in the proper spirit and now will go to work with Mr. McCombs, the new chairman, and others to work out a campaign plan and to select "a committee of at least nine," to act as a board of directors for the campaign. Those present at the conference number nine, and they are: Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Senator J. A. O'Gorman of New York, Committeeman Robert S. Hudspeth of New Jersey, Josephus E. Daniels of North Carolina, A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, who is already secretary of the committee, Congressman Albert Bursleson of Texas, and W. G. McAdoo of New Jersey.

There will be much to be decided upon with reference to campaign funds, the financial end of the campaign, the selection of a treasurer and decision whether there is to be a finance committee, publicity committee, or any number of committees which have cluttered up bygone campaigns. The governor is trying to clear the decks now to get down to the speech of acceptance. He will endeavor to make that speech the Democratic creed, and he will try to make it short, so that it may be easily digested by every voter.

HE WHO receives but does not give is like the Dead Sea. All the fresh floods of Jordan cannot sweeten its salt depths.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

When cooking cabbage, onions or any of the highly flavored vegetables, leave the dish uncovered while cooking.

After preparing celery for the table, save the tops and small bits for soups and stews.

The green tops of horseradish will grow again if planted.

For colds, a few drops of turpentine, four or five, on loaf sugar, will break up a cold in one night. If the cold is in the head, a good greasing of the nasal passages and the outside of the nose with carbolated vasoline is a great relief.

A severe cold on the chest may be relieved by a good greasing of lard and turpentine, one part turpentine to two parts lard.

Cough Medicine.—Boil two ounces of flax seed with a quart of water. Strain, and add two ounces of rock candy, a half pint of honey, the juice of three lemons. Boil all together until well mixed. Let cool and bottle. Two tablespoonfuls, taken hot, is a good dose.

Another fine cough cure is sliced onions. Sprinkle with sugar and put into the oven in a granite dish to cook. When the onions are dark brown the sirup will be ready to use.

A glass of warm milk taken before retiring is a good sleep producer.

Hot milk is a good drink to take before starting out into the cold, as it warms and nourishes at the same time.

Beets are fattening, and they are a food which should appeal to the thin woman.

Do not leave meat wrapped in paper. The meat is not only flavored by the paper, but the paper will absorb the juices of the meat.

When making French dressing, a small piece of ice in the salad bowl will make dressing thick and well blended.

The water in which a mutton stew is cooked or a leg of lamb boiled is a good basis for a soup.

CHANCES FOR THE STUDENT

No Reason Why Their Opportunities Should Not Be Extended in Many Directions.

We have student mechanics in all the large factories and student miners in all the great mines. There are student trainmen on all the trains and student superintendents in all the offices.

Soon we shall have student senators in the senate and student representatives in the house. A student judge will sit on every bench and student attorneys will assist every lawyer.

Student social learners will attend every function and student soldiers will accompany the troops. The White House will have to be enlarged to make room for about 1,000,000 student presidents, for nearly every mother in the United States will want to send her son to the White House to learn how to be president.

Student brides and student grooms will attend every wedding ceremony and student ministers will accompany the minister on his parochial calls.

It might be interesting to know just what a student lover's privilege would be, but there is no doubt that a few lessons are sadly needed by some young persons.

Student poets would with advantage learn the gentle art of standing off the landlady and student bill collectors would find it advantageous to learn how best to land at the bottom of the stairs.—Chicago News.

TRUE COURTESY IN GERMANY

Little Incident That Caused English Traveler to Revise His Opinion of Young Officer.

The German has not only been taught the other courtesies, but he has been born with a kindness of heart and instinctive consideration for others which make his formalities of real value. The man who appears to have a fund of "small change and valueless attentions is the same man who will go miles out of his way to do you a favor tomorrow."

Only a few weeks ago I was traveling in the same train with a young lieutenant, whose smooth and graceful manners had more than once aroused suspicion in my English soul. He was got up in his newest and finest uniform; he had on spotless white kid gloves, an eyeglass thrust in his eye; he looked, in fact, the very dandy, who would not soil himself to save a life.

The train was very full, and presently an old peasant fellow came in with his basket of vegetables, and looked about helplessly, treading on everybody's toes in the meantime. I looked on my military neighbor and waited for the storm. The dandy arose, saluted gravely, offered the weary old peasant his seat, and went and stood outside.

If there is anything in thought telegraphy, that young officer must have heard me apologizing to him all the rest of our journey together.—"My German Year."

Shallow-minded people will wade into deep subjects without the ease of fear.

OFFERS PRIZES TO G.A.R. POSTS

Wilbur E. Gorsuch, Department Commander, Devises Plan to Increase Membership.

SEND LETTERS TO POSTS

Flags Will be Awarded to All Those Gaining Ten Recruits by December 31.

Wilbur E. Gorsuch, department commander of the G. A. R., has issued a letter to all post officers announcing that a prize will be awarded each post that increases its membership by ten veterans before December 31, 1912. The letter Commander Gorsuch will send to all post officers today follows in part:

"My Dear Comrades—I am very anxious that our department retain that same standing in the national organization that it has had in the past, and, fully realizing that it will require concerted action to do this, I appeal to every post commander and to every member of our order to join in the work of increasing interest in meetings. It sounds well of a town to say that it has a good Grand Army post among its assets, and local pride all over the state should cause the Grand Army of the Republic to maintain its standing.

"We fully realize that it is not as easy to attend post meetings as it was in former years, but the principles for which the Grand Army stands are unchanged and beneficial, not only to the membership of the Grand Army, but the citizenship in general has shared in its benefits, and it is just as essential now that these principles be nurtured as at any time in the past. You can keep your dues paid and hold your membership even if you can not attend more than half the meetings, or if conditions are such that you can not, then your post will gladly remit your dues and hold you in good standing.

"Those who attend post meetings are usually 'square' in the books—and a good, well-filled quartermaster's department was always appreciated. Don't lose sight of what the organization has been to you and to the widows and orphans of those who have joined the silent majority. More soldiers of the war of the rebellion are dormant in Grand Army matters, or have never been associated with it, than are active. Let us get active.

"To that end a piece hunting flag on staff suitable for post turnouts or post room decorations will be given to every post in the department that will show an increase of ten or more in its membership for the semi-annual term ending December 31, 1912. Come on, comrades, let us see how many flags will be called for—the more the merrier. Nothing would please us better than if every post in the department should make the increase and receive a flag."

It is believed that a large number of the posts will obtain the prize banners.

BOOSTING THE CARNIVAL

Rushville Young Men Advertise Event in Shelbyville.

A number of young men from Rushville were here Wednesday night boosting the ninth annual Knights of Columbus carnival which opens next Tuesday night in that city, says the Shelbyville News. The carnival has grown to be a great stunt in the line of summer amusement in Rushville, and many people from neighboring cities attend. The amusement consists of vaudeville and motion picture shows and all other carnival attractions. Free band concerts are also a part of the bill.

Exchange

The Band of Workers of the First Presbyterian church will hold an exchange Saturday, July 20, in the Maude Reed Wolcott millinery store.

FIXING IT UP FOR HIMSELF

Rudolph Leeds of Richmond, Sixth District Bull Moose Boss Would Run For Congress.

HAS PLENTY OF WAR SINEWS

He Might Knock Lid Off "Pork Barrel" If He Should Be Nominated.

Under a Richmond date line, the New Castle Courier publishes the following political story:

That Rudolph Gaar Leeds, Richmond's young millionaire political dictator and boss of the bull moosers in the Sixth district, will become a candidate for congress from the Sixth district on the bull moose ticket seems certain. Leeds is taking an active interest in the formation of the bolting party and is generously contributing from his big "barrel" to the disappointed office seekers and soreheads that are flocking to his standard of dollar marks.

It is well known that Leeds has long had a covetous eye on a seat in congress. He could not secure it from the regular Republican organization and consequently is forming a party of his own to further his ambition.

Should Leeds be nominated there would be no lack of the sinews of war. To his credit it can be said that he is not half-hearted with his money when he once enters into anything, and consequently it is safe to say that he would knock the lid off the "barrel" should he be nominated.

However all is not serene within the moosers' ranks in Wayne county. An element of not little proportions, which is opposed to Taft, also opposes a third party. Consequently they will not support the new organization, but may throw their votes to Democracy.

Among the leaders in the latter movement is Wilfred Jessup, former prosecuting attorney of Wayne county. He is opposed to Taft and will not support Roosevelt. In a recent progressive meeting in Richmond Jessup denounced the Roosevelt idea with cold water by advising against the formation of a third party. Since then his standing in the Fork-Leeds clan has dropped several points.

PLAN TO LOCATE ANOTHER PLANT

Arbuckle & Son of Homer Are Considering Building Another Factory in Bartholomew County.

DEMAND FOR THEIR PRODUCT

A new factory for Bartholomew county is promised in the vicinity of Waymansville as Arbuckle & Son of Homer, Ind., are considering the advisability of locating a tile plant there, says the Columbus Republican.

The members of the firm have been over the ground and say they found the soil suitable for use in making tile. They propose to locate the factory on the farm of James Hinsley, northeast of Waymansville and say if they decide to build they will erect a factory costing $30,000.

The Homer firm does not want any bonus from the farmers and is not seeking any kind of a donation. The only thing the firm wants to know is whether or not there would be a demand for the tile and if there is the plant will be built.

INDIANA SECOND.

Indiana ranks second among the States in the amount of postal savings bonds applied for on July 1, according to a statement issued by the postmaster-general. The percentage of increase was 81.2 from January 1, the date of the last conversion, to the beginning of July. The investment in bonds in Indiana on July 1 was $56,820, as against $31,360 in January. Ohio ranks first.

BOARD DEFINES REQUIREMENTS

State Educational Head Designates Standard For Colleges in Indiana.

OF INTEREST TO STUDENTS

To Prevent Attendance at School That Doesn't Come up to Requirements.

The following requirements of a standard college has been received by the county superintendent and is of special interest to teachers and students who expect to go away to college.

A college to be a standard college must meet several requirements.

First, teachers—Must have five or more who devote their time exclusively to college work; work required, no teacher be allowed to teach more than 24 hours a week and it is advisable to have them teach not less than 20 hours a week; department of education, teachers must be graduates of standard normals, colleges and universities and must have had successful experience in teaching public school and teach in a manner satisfactory to the state teachers' training board.

Second, finances—Must have an endowment of $20,000. In lieu of the above endowment an annual income, exclusive of tuition, of $10,000 will be accepted.

Third, entrance requirements—Must be a graduate from a commissioned high school or its equivalent.

Fourth, graduation requirements—Course leading to bachelor's degree must include four years of 36 weeks, each recitation to cover a period of not less than 50 minutes.

Fifth, equipment—College must have adequate laboratories and a library containing not less than 5,000 volumes, exclusive of public documents.

Sixth, college must contain a well organized pedagogical course.

A large number of small colleges and schools are now hustling to meet the new requirements.

NEGRO WHO SHOT I. & C. CAR RELEASED

Robert Miller Stays Fine of $20 and Jail Sentence of 30 Days is Suspended.

ONE ORDERING IT DONE ON BOND

Robert Miller, the young colored man who was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Chief of Police Manlove and Officer Tuten on a charge of attacking a public conveyance, because he fired a revolver while he and Harvey Sandefur, a white man, were leaving an Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction car at Walser last Saturday night, entered a plea of guilty to the charge last night in the court of Mayor Hawkins, and the fine and costs were stayed by the young man's employer, Samuel Thomas, the amount being $20, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The mayor at first added a jail sentence of thirty days, but on the negro's explanation that he did not shoot at the car, and that the gun had been handed him by Sandefur and the further promises that he would go to the Thomas farm and resume his work, the sentence was suspended.

The affidavits against the two men were filed by Oscar Lively, the traction superintendent, the charge against Sandefur being for carrying a concealed weapon. Mr. Lively and his conductor were present at the hearing given the negro. Sandefur is out on bond.

The Odd Fellows will have a called meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock to make arrangements for the funeral of George Altmyer.

TRABUE'S JOB STILL SECURE

Arthur J. Stobart Re-elected Major General of Uniform Rank K. of P. at Supreme Assembly.

LOCAL MAN IS ON HIS STAFF

It is Decided Not to Abandon Present Uniform But to Make Changes.

The re-election of Arthur J. Stobart of St. Paul, Minn., major general in command of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias of America, at the Supreme Assembly of the Uniform Rank in Indianapolis yesterday assures the position of Samuel L. Trabue of this city on the staff of the major general with the rank of colonel for another period of office.

Mr. Trabue was honored by this position about a year ago and now that the major general has been re-elected, Mr. Trabue will hold this exalted office in the national organization of the Uniform Rank through a term of office. Mr. Trabue attended the meeting of the Supreme Assembly in Indianapolis yesterday.

The question of changes in the uniform was settled at the night session, which concluded the meeting, the assembly adjourning immediately. Instead of an abandonment of the present dress, as had been advocated, additions were made, which, it is believed will make it as distinctive as would a radical change and have at the same time the advantage of economy, since 30,000 Knights of the Uniform Rank are affected.

The cap, heretofore straight, will have a modified bell effect, with blue trimmings. Equipment straps, running from the point of the shoulder to the collar, will be added, having blue facing and the letters "U. R. K." and the calla lily worked on them in silk. Blue facings will be added to the top of the collar, which will bear the ordinary abbreviation of the States and the Pythian shield, in silver. The trousers will have a stripe of blue running down the outside seams.

The official full dress was adopted, none having been generally recognized. Blue plumes will surmount a white helmet, with facing of blue, and the same color will prevail in the infantry belt and slings. The costume, as a whole, will be black and in general, resembling ordinary evening dress. Its adoption and use will be optional with the different companies.

It was the decision of the Supreme Assembly that it should recommend to the Supreme lodge that the minimum age limit for admission to the Uniform Rank be changed from twenty-one years to eighteen years. This recommendation will be made at the meeting of the lodge to be held in Denver, August 6 to 10.

'BIG WEDNESDAY' OFFERS ARE OPEN

band concert last night. Although rain fell early in the evening and dark clouds threatened a hard shower, many people gathered around the band stand to enjoy the concert. Many country people came in for the concert.

The value of the band concerts is appreciated by the merchants. It has been suggested by the merchants that a band concert be held every week or every other week during the summer months. It is pointed out that besides entertaining the people, the merchants should support a band as good as Rushville has and help it to improve steadily as its members desire the organization to do.
